

Visit the

DOWNEAST FISHERIES TRAIL

Celebrating the fisheries heritage of Downeast Maine, then and now

DowneastFisheriesTrail.org

From Penobscot Bay to Passamaquoddy Bay, the Downeast Fisheries Trail connects historic and active fisheries sites that illustrate the region's maritime heritage. As you travel throughout Downeast Maine, you will see wharfs, harbors and coves buzzing with fishing industry activities; historical societies and museums with fisheries displays; marine research centers; aquaculture farms; and some of Maine's most beautiful coastal scenery.

For more information about the Downeast Fisheries Trail, including a map, details about the dozens of sites on the Trail, ideas for activities, fisheries stories and more, visit

DowneastFisheriesTrail.org

 us at: facebook.com/DowneastFisheriesTrail

Printed maps are available throughout the region and on the website.

